

Axis Construction Corp. & Destination KP Make Ground Breaking Moves

Destination KP Sports Park’s Groundbreaking Ceremony is called “A New Era for Smithtown’s Community and Economy”

On December 12, 2024, the Town of Smithtown celebrated a monumental step toward enhancing local recreational and economic opportunities with the groundbreaking of Destination KP Sports Park. This $92 million, 44-acre sports complex, situated at 350 Old Northport Road in Kings Park, promises to serve as a premier destination for athletic events, recreation, and community engagement. The ceremony was attended by Town of Smithtown officials, Axis Construction Corp, representatives from Agape Community Sports Services (ACSS), and developer Prospect Sports Partners LLC.

Axis Construction will be the Construction Manager to bring the vision for growth and revitalization. The sports complex is expected to significantly boost local economic activity by attracting athletes, families, and visitors for regional youth sports tournaments and events. Supervisor Edward R. Wehrheim emphasized how the park aligns with the town’s updated Master Plan and the ongoing

Destination KP is designed to serve both local residents and the larger regional demand for youth sports tournaments, championships, and recreational activities. The indoor sports facility is expected to be completed within 12 to 14 months by Axis Construction Corp with the overall project envisioned as a central hub for athletes and families. The complex will also contribute to the ongoing transformation of the industrial area, once home to heavy industry, into a community-friendly space that attracts new businesses and services.

As Axis Construction shapes Destination KP Sports Park, it will not only meet the growing need for athletic spaces but also foster community engagement and economic growth in Smithtown, marking a significant milestone in the town’s future development.
